Short Rules.

Young man, cut out these rules and wear them on the inside of your hat and read them at least three times a day:

If you wish to be always thirsty, be a drunkard; for the oftener and more you drink, the more thirsty you will be.

If you wish to prevent all your efforts helping you on in the world, be a drunkard; for that of itself will defeat all their efforts.

If you are determined to be poor, be a drunkard; for soon you will be ragged and penniless.

If you wish to starve your family, be a drunkard; for that will consume all your means.

If you wish to be imposed on by taxes, be a drunkard; that being a sure mode of destruction.

If you would have no resources when past labor, be a drunkard; and you will accomplish it most effectually.

Everyone who followed all the rules but the last, and then becoming ashamed about it, quit the business, the above were written out for the essential benefit of one of his friends in town. But inspired in the outset they are good for all persons, and will never fail.

For the Jasper Courier.

BETTER COURIER.—Sir: I am ever ready to inform the suffering humanity of Dubois county, through the columns of your journal, that now their afflictions are at an end, as they have only to come to our progressive town of Hayesville, for a complete cure of whatever disease they may be possessed.

It has been discovered by a tentonic citizen of this community, that the only reason why disease is a prevalent害 in account of the medicines used being purchased exclusively in America. He has therefore come to the noble resolve to obviate this terrible calamity and relieve the poor victims of American quackery from tritely grave, by reorganizing from "das Veterinari" a complete supply of drugs and medicines, being well assured that all importations from that land of novelties, of poetry, and of song, where Leslie's streams twister the Rhine, is coastly flowing, must exhibit the ne plus ultra of human perfections.

His importations will shortly arrive and his supplies of German Harlein Oil, Col Liver Oil, and others, will be found to be so superior to the common American trash that disease will fly as smoke before the blast of Heaven.

All hail to our worthy tenor and may his success be as great as that of Dr. Hindbook, immortalized by Scott's Bard.

Yours truly, ESCULACIUS.

To all farmers in arriving at accuracy in estimating the amount of land in different fields under cultivation, the following table is given by an agricultural paper:

20 yards wide x 242 yards long, containing 1 acre.

40 yards wide x 121 yards long containing 1 acre.

50 yards wide x 60 yards long containing 1 acre.

70 yards wide x 60 yards long containing 1 acre.

60 feet wide x 720 feet long containing 1 acre.

100 feet wide x 366 feet long containing 1 acre.

120 feet wide x 366 feet long containing 1 acre.

220 feet wide x 138 feet long containing 1 acre.

240 feet wide x 181 feet long containing 1 acre.

5 movements of President Grant this morning, Special, &c. At 6 o'clock he again stretched himself and arose from bed; at 7 he washed his face, using his celebrated toilet soap for the purpose; at 8 he breakfasted on a cup of coffee, half a dozen eggs, with some kind of colorless liquid in a wine glass, and mush and milk à la carte (the President never beats up his eggs nor swallows them whole); after breakfast he smoked. Here the wires unhappily broke down.

Said Lord John Russell to Mr. Hume, at a social dinner: "What do you consider the object of legislation?" "The greatest good to the greatest number." What do you consider the greatest number?" continued his Lordship. "Number one," was the Commoner's prompt reply.
